BIO

Ugo Damiani, a contemporary French Mediterranean painter originally from Corsica, now resides on the French Riviera. Known by his artist pseudonym, Ugo, he draws inspiration from his travels across the world, focusing mainly on capturing female facial expressions in his paintings. Self-taught, he developed a figurative style marked by abstract expressionism, with an influence from spontaneous realism, visible in the liveliness of his line and his faithful transcription of expressions.

Having spent years in the Caribbean, North Africa, on a sailboat, and in Asia, particularly Shanghai, Ugo imbues his work with universalism and a multicultural vision of humanity. He brings the richness of his international encounters to life through an explosive palette and energetic line. His art primarily celebrates vibrant and sensual portraits of women, boldly exploring the nuances of their personalities and embodying a gallery of feminine archetypes while also questioning the impact of artificial intelligence on the human soul and the ongoing dialogue around the feminine condition.

Regularly exhibited in Shanghai since 2019 and at "Miami Art Week" in 2023, Ugo is also present at the 2024 Venice Art Biennale. He continues his career in France, where he is a permanent artist at the Devin Gallery in Le Havre, Normandy, where a solo exhibition was dedicated to him in the summer of 2024. Ugo's ongoing investigation into the feminine condition explores the universality of the human experience, and his portraits, full of strength, testify to the sensitivity of an artist deeply connected to the world.
