Background of EABC 2025 European Business Position Paper

Elevating Thailand's Competitiveness: Driving Economic Transformation and Regulatory Reforms

EABC publishes its European Business Position Papers biennially to offer a European business perspective on Thailand's evolving economic landscape. The 2025 edition, themed "Elevating Thailand's Competitiveness: Driving Economic Transformation and Regulatory Reforms," provides economy-wide challenges and opportunities across more than ten sectors, backed by contributions from industry experts and practitioners by consensus through EABC Working Groups. It addresses key policy recommendations that aim to enhance Thailand's trade and investment environment and foster long-term growth.

This edition is framed against 3 significant developments;

- Ongoing EU-Thailand Free Trade Agreement (FTA) negotiations,
- Reforms anticipated through Thailand's expected accession to the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD)
- The much-publicised need for enhanced competitiveness.

Together, they create an impetus for Thailand to strengthen its role within high-value global supply chains, attract sustainable investment and be a more sustainable economy, streamline policy and regulatory frameworks to support innovation and competitiveness. By focusing on economic transformation and necessary reforms, the European Business Position Paper emphasises priorities that align with both Thailand's quality growth aspirations and European business interests. EABC's European Business Position Paper aims to be an essential resource for policymakers and other stakeholders seeking actionable insights into fostering a resilient, competitive, and forward looking Thai economy.

Our Special Focus Tasks forces

In addition to the topics listed in our Top Set, which are either covered by our 12 Working Groups or as horizontal topics across all our advocacy activities (e.g. SMEs and sustainability), we also mount adhoc task forces with a limited number of members, and sometimes with external partners as well, to address and engage with the Thai authorities and other stakeholders on specific topics. These topics may emerge from new and one-off changes in the legal and or business environment in Thailand, or from particular needs from a group of members, which require tailored advocacy services.

These task forces operate under the umbrella of one or more of our Working Groups, if the topic covers several sectors.

Our Unique Process

THE BAKING PROCESS

Working Groups during their regular meetings identify issues. Then, we collaborate with Advocacy Partners to garner more expanded perspective and evaluation, in addition to the expertise provided by our WGs in their respective sectors.

All parties will be able to contribute to the development of positions through Dialogue sessions and constant communication with our team through WG meetings and other interactions.

Our advocacy stems from high-level of co-ordination to ensure we build consensus and provide detailed recommendations, backed up by extensive level of research and consultancy.

THE DELIVERY

The EABC team and Working Groups, along with Advocacy Partners present their position with Government Agencies, via public hearings, consultations, seminars and other means.

Our Cooperation partners

EABC has become a leading organisation on advocacy in Thailand. As the "Voice of the European Business in Thailand", we have made some unique forays, and we have been implementing a unique and efficient process and methodology for advocacy in Thailand, through which we build consensus.

Our advocacy work includes not only our members and Working Groups. We also cooperate activeties with other organisations and institutions, in order to better support the interests of all European companies operating in Thailand, as well as those of the Thai population, who would greatly benefit from a more liberalised and more open market, and from the implementation of international and European standards.
